

DOCTOR WILE BANDSTAND AT KALAUPAPA.

The bandstand at Kalaupapa, Molokai, of which an engraving is herewith presented, is the result of a donation made by Dr. W. C. Wile of Danbury, Conn. It is only one of many proofs the doctor has given of the benevolent interest in the inmates of the Settlement which his visit thereto last year aroused. For many years there has been a band at Kalaupapa and another one at Kalawao, the latter being composed of boys in the Baldwin Home. Professor Berger gives these bands instruction on occasions of official visitations. At the right background of the picture the residence of the superintendent of the Settlement is shown. The cost of the bandstand was about $500, the bulk of the fund having been Dr. Wile's gift.

advocated the introduction into this Territory of a class of people—mentioning with particular favor Northern Italians—who would not only cultivate small farms and vineyards, but be a permanent source of labor to the sugar plantations. Work of construction on the great Kohala irrigation ditch, under Engineer O'Shaughnessy, is making rapid progress, 45 tunnels being under way with a record of about 8500 feet driven the past month.

Work has been started on the construction and plumbing contracts for the U. S. Army Post at Kahauiki, overlooking Honolulu city and harbor. Both contracts were secured by the Burrell Construction Co. of California. An appropriation of $175,000 is available for the Post equipment this year. The American-Hawaiian Engineering and Construction Co. has the contract from the Territory for erecting an Archives building on the Capitol grounds at a cost of $35,200. Many appropriations for public improvements out of loan funds, made by the Legislature of 1903, lapsed on June 30. The money thus saved is available for the Loan Act appropriations for 1905.

Both the Chamber of Commerce and the Sugar Planters' Association passed resolutions urging Governor Carter to recall his resignation. The Governor has gone to Washington to confer with President Roosevelt, leaving Secretary Atkinson as Acting Governor. By an amicable arrangement, largely dictated by Mr. Atkinson, the transition to county government on the 1st of July was effected without mentionable friction. Oahu county has taken the upper floor of the McIntyre building, at King and Fort streets, for its offices.

Wilder's Steamship Co. passed out of active existence June 30 and proceedings are advanced for its legal dissolution, its property and business having been merged into the possession of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co.

A deed is recorded from Samuel S. Paschal and wife to the Hawaiian Trust Co. of lot and buildings in Alakea street for $5000. The Stewart property at Kalihi did not go to Morgan's auction rooms yesterday, but it is said a private sale thereof is as good as made. Litigation between Mrs. Nannie R. Rice of Boston and W. G. Irwin over land titles at Kailua, Oahu, has been settled by an exchange of deeds. The Standard Telephone Co., it is said, only awaits the approval of its franchise by Congress to begin mechanical operations. Maui is to have a steam laundry.

All sorts of trouble have met the British tramp steamer Stanley Dollar, that came here from Yokohama to carry 600 Japanese to the Coast. Hotel-keepers who were harboring the intending emigrants were prosecuted for violating a law of 1905 against inducing laborers to leave the Territory. Then the authorities pursued the Japanese booked to leave for delinquent taxes. Finally, the vessel was refused clearance because it had neither a British nor an American license to carry passengers, and there is talk of prosecuting the Japanese hotel runners, etc., for gross cheat in selling passage tickets under false pretences.

Ocean steam arrivals for the week have been the Miowera from the Colonies, the Stanley Dollar from Yokohama and the Aorangi from Victoria; and departures the Alameda for San Francisco, the Miowera for Vancouver and the Aorangi for the Colonies.

ever, the Supervisors did their full duty and tore the resolution up and put the fragments in the wastebasket. If the resolution was so harmless and necessary and so reasonably needed to set the police wheels moving, why did the Supervisors treat it as they did? Perhaps the Star will be able in a year or two to let me know and also tell why the control of the police came about so easily after the wide-open resolution had been dropped.

ENGLAND FEARS FOR HER GOLD

Officials of the Bank of England are said to be worried for the safety of the hoards of wealth stored in their strong boxes. The bank station of the new underground railway in London is close to the vaults of the world's greatest institution of finance. At a recent meeting of the bank directors it was suggested that some brave but wicked person might set off a quantity of explosive in the bank station, wrecking the foundations and set streams of gold coin leaking out on to the station platform. The feasibility of this scheme has been conceded by the bank governor. It is figured, however, that the "tube," as the underground railway is called, is a little too deep at this point. To reach the bullion vaults of the bank the conspirators would have to drive a shaft nearly one hundred feet and then they would face a mass of concrete, thick masonry and steel. At one time the Bank of England was the object of conspiracy. From a church tower close by the bank was bombarded. Afterward the authorities had the church and its threatening tower destroyed. Officials of the bank do not like the tunnelling going on in the clay beneath their foundations. The constant pumping of water has affected even the solidity of the clay, and from this cause one of the wells which is within the three acres comprised within the bank's precincts has dried up.

Those three acres are valued at about $5,000,000 each, and the treasures within them are guarded in fitting fashion. On either side of the main entrance to the bank are two small glass houses. In one reposes a stately beadle. In the other are two wide awake detectives. Other detectives are in and out of the rooms, but always unobtrusively. At night the police force is a heavy one. Every evening a compact body of men, commanded by a lieutenant, and including two sergeants, two drummers, a bugler and thirty privates, marches from Wellington barracks to the bank. They are in full marching order, and before they enter the technical limits of "The City" exercise that privilege of the guards of fixing bayonets. They are on duty for twelve hours, and but for the recurring spells of sentry-go have an easy time.

Officials of the bank provide moderate refreshments for these guards. In the guardroom, which is of regulation pattern, are the usual shelf and blanket, sufficient accommodation for a soldier's intermittent dozing when on duty of this kind. The officer has a suite of rooms at his service—the dining room of panelled oak, a neat bedroom and a bathroom. There is hidden away in the centre of the bank one of the most pleasant gardens in London, where an after dinner cigar may be enjoyed on a summer evening to the full, while the roar of the great metropolis around has died away to inarticulate murmurs.—Chicago News.

WAS PARKER DISCHARGED?

to me, though I was standing by. I told Hart not to take any orders from Leslie. I did this because the last order I received concerning Leslie was that his commission under the Territory had been revoked and I had received no notification of his reinstatement under the county. A few minutes later the Sheriff sent for me and told me that Leslie was back and at the head of the mounted police and that Vida was a special man. As soon as he said this I said "all right," and there was no more question. The only reason I told Hart not to take Leslie's orders was that I did not know that he was on the force and had authority to give orders.

The incident, misunderstanding, whatever it was, between Brown and Parker took place at the Police Station early yesterday morning. Whatever passed between the two men, the result of it was that Parker gave up his star and his patrol box key and, taking his personal belongings from the Station, was driven to his home in a hack. Parker told the boys at the station good-bye and certainly thought that he had been forced out. A little later, he told several of his friends of what had happened, and the news spread all over town like lightning, causing much indignation.

Still later, Brown sent for Parker, and told him to come down and talk the matter over with him, and later to report at nine o'clock this morning, as usual. Whether it is the Sheriff's intention to restore Parker to duty this morning, is not stated. The Supervisors understand it that way.

But the matter of the discharge or resignation of Parker seems to have ciphered itself down to a question of veracity. It is true, at all events, as Parker says, that the Sheriff did call him in after midnight on Saturday morning and tell him that Vida and Leslie had been put back on the force. There was a witness to that.

Speaking of the reorganization of the police force, the Supervisors say that they intend that the department shall be run as it is now for the month of July, for which time the discretion given to the Sheriff extends. On the first of August, the Sheriff must present to the Board a complete list of his men, with the pay of each, and the Supervisors will then pass upon each name and each salary separately. And from that date there will be a new order.

GOVERNOR ON REPRISALS.

"I would be very sorry," said Acting Governor Atkinson yesterday, speaking of the Captain Parker incident, "to see the beginning of a system of political reprisals here. Mind you, I am speaking as a citizen. I have no desire and no purpose officially to butt into the management of county affairs. Those men down there are elected by the people to manage those concerns, and they must take their own responsibilities, and meet them how they may. "And there is nothing personal to Captain Parker in what I am saying now. But it is a bad principle to discharge a man from his employment because of his political action. In this case, Captain Parker obeyed orders, as I understand it. And he supported his superior in office. But, leave Captain Parker's personality out of the consideration. I am very sorry to see any spirit of reprisal manifest itself, and I will be glad if that kind of thing is avoided. There is no disposition on the part of the Territorial administration to work out grudges. The best interests of the party will be served, I believe, by an elimination of any disposition to do that on all hands."

WEDS MAN OF HER CHOICE

Girl Defies Rich Uncle and Loses Fortune by Marrying Newspaper Man for Love.

Crawfordsville, Ind.—Over the protest of her uncle, A. F. Ramsley, whose heiress she might have been, Miss Elizabeth Hernley, one of the prettiest society girls of Crawfordsville, was married here to Paul Welty, a Cincinnati newspaper man. Her uncle's estate is rated at nearly $1,000,000, and she may not share in it because of her choice.

The marriage was the result of a romantic courtship which began six years ago, when Welty was a student in Wabash college. Welty was one of the most popular men in school, and much sought after by the different fraternities. Miss Hernley was an ardent Phi Delta girl, and it was during a call at her home one night in company with several of the fraternity men that she deftly detailed the advantages of the Phi Delta Thetas, and so coy was she in her argument that Welty lost his heart and allowed himself to be "pledged."

She was living then with her uncle, who is president of the Citizens' National bank and stockholder in several important concerns. From the start he frowned on Welty's suit. Miss Hernley submitted to his wishes for a short time, seeing Welty occasionally at fraternity functions, but Welty was an ardent wooer and she capitulated. After he left college he frequently visited Crawfordsville to see her, despite the continued protest of Ramsley. A year ago Ramsley sent her to Washington in hopes of making her forget Welty, but she remained away only six months. Her love for Welty had not ebbed, so when he appeared arrangements were made for a speedy marriage. Welty accompanied her to her uncle to ask his permission for the ceremony to take place. The uncle refused, and the girl left him in tears. She defied him by marrying Welty at the home of her father. They left for Cincinnati, where they will reside.

Little Maggie (who has company)—We've been playing school, mamma. Mamma—Indeed! And did you behave nicely? "Oh, I didn't have to behave, I was teacher."
